EXPECT GERMANY TO ACCEPT ALLIED ULTIMATUM

NEW SYSTEM FOR STREET REPAIR IS ANNOUNCED

Mayor Proposes to Discontinue Assessment of Abutting Property Owners for Improvement of Streets

PROPOSES TO RE-SURFACE THIRTEEN MILES OF STREET

Special Committee Acts Unanimously in Favor of Proposal at Meeting Monday

THAT the city should discontinue the practice of assessing the cost of resurfacing streets to the abutting property owners, abandon the policy of attempting to patch rough macadam streets, and immediately issue bonds to the amount of $150,000 in order to begin operations as soon as possible in the re-surfacing of nearly thirteen miles of macadam streets in the city of La Crosse, were the propositions recommended by the mayor and acted favorably upon by his special committee at a meeting held in the offices of the mayor Monday night.

Committee Acts Unanimously

The decision of the special committee upon these recommendations was unanimous and an ordinance will be offered for first and second reading at the council meeting Friday night to bond the city immediately for $150,000 as the initial step toward the reconstruction of these streets.

In his message before the special committee Monday night, Mayor Bentley urged and advised this form of improvement, giving good streets for a period of from six to ten years, at a present saving of nearly one-third of the cost of laying brick pavement.

Unit Repair System

That the abutting property owners should be relieved of the responsibility of paying for street improvement was the change from the present system advocated by the mayor. The measure is designed to incorporate the entire city as a unit in the repairing movement, the expense of the proposed re-surfacing to be paid for out of the general fund of the city.

It was further recommended and accepted unanimously by the committee to abandon the practice of patching holes in the streets, and to use this money for the purpose of re-surfacing the entire street.

Mayor's Message

The mayor's message to the committee is as follows:

"Gentlemen: In my address to you, April 19, I recommended that you consider the advisability of submitting to a referendum vote the proposition to bond the city for a sufficient amount to pay for re-surfacing all granite top macadam streets in the city, the work to be done during the season of 1922. Since writing this recommendation, there has been filed in the office of the board of public works, petitions protesting against all of the proposed jobs of re-surfacing which you have ordered done this year. While not all of the petitions filed are strictly legal, and would not effectively stop some of the work planned, there are a sufficient number of signers to those protesting petitions to assure us that a large majority, and in some instances fully 95 per cent of the property owners abutting on the streets which you propose to re-surface this year are unalterably opposed to the present policy of this council.

Important Problem

"The question has been presented very clearly, and in my judgment must be met and settled, as to whether or not—first, shall we re-surface all granite top macadam streets which are unquestionably worth saving; second, shall we begin such work this season; third, shall the cost for such improvement be assessed to abutting property, or shall it be paid from moneys raised from assessment against all property in the entire city?

"In answering these questions I recommend that you consider the desirability of reclaiming our present granite top macadam streets as the most economical improvement. The solid foundations now in these streets are an undisputed asset, and serious and careful consideration should be given them before any plan is adopted to remove any part of the material in these streets in order to relay brick or other permanent, expensive pavement. A careful survey of the different streets now filled with holes and otherwise worn, which are classed as worth saving, reveals the fact that there are some twelve to thirteen miles of granite top macadam streets in the city of La Crosse which in my judgment should be immediately re-surfaced with appropriate material such as we have been using known as asphalt carpet coat, or Tarvia X process like Mormon Coulee, State Road

CHINA LOOKING TO U. S. FOR LEADERSHIP Y. M. C. A. MAN SAYS

T. M. Elliott, La Crosse Guest at Dinner Urges Domination of American Ideals in Orient

OUTCOME OF GREAT DRAMA TO AFFECT THE ENTIRE WORLD

Chinese Declared Eager for American Education

CHINA is looking to America for leadership, declared T. M. Elliott, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Amoy, China, in an address Monday night at a dinner in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce. It is the day when the great question must be answered, "Whose ideals will dominate and guide China? America's ideals or those who militarize the country and make its countless people a menace to the rest of the world," said Mr. Elliott.

"Now is the time that America should send more missionaries, more teachers more doctors, more engineers and more business men to China, for that country is in great need of them," were Mr. Elliott's closing remarks.

Mr. Elliott has spent more than 12 years in China. He said he did not set himself up as a business man nor a business expert and that he did not purpose to undertake to tell business men how they should conduct their Oriental trade, that he was speaking merely as an observer.

Dinner Precedes Address

The meeting Monday night began with a dinner that was served at 6:30 o'clock by girls employed by the La Crosse Garment company. The young women wore flowered aprons that they made themselves and suggested in a way the oriental touch given to the occasion by the address on China. Carl Semsch, decorator of the William Doerflinger company, decorated the assembly room attractively in smilax, pink poppies and pink garlands. Scattered about the ceiling were clusters of Chinese lanterns. A program of songs was given by Mrs. V. Leo Simones accompanied by Miss George, and Fred J. Soule, accompanied by Miss Mulder.

"Paul Rice, consul general in China, summed up the entire situation in that country in two sentences," said Mr. Elliott, at the opening of his address. "He said: 'There have been many great crises in history but none that compares with the great drama now being enacted in China. The welfare of the entire community depends on the outcome.'

China's Weakness Only Crime

"China's only crime is that she is weak. She is far behind the times because for 2,000 years she has been looking backward. They have been building sampans (native boats) the same way their grandfathers built them; they have been building their houses the same way their grandfathers did; they have been wearing the same kind of clothes that their grandfathers wore. And America will be doing the same thing if we don't stop going forward with our eyes turned backward—looking backward toward Europe.

"In our schools today what languages do they teach? French, Spanish, Latin. How many men in 1,000 speak French? One. How many speak Spanish? One, or two. How many speak Chinese? Twenty-five. Our schools should wake up and have courses on the language of China and Japan. How many people in La Crosse hustle out the first thing in the morning and get their Chinese newspaper and read of the affairs of China each day? None. In Amoy, China the young men read the World's Work, Literary Digest and big American newspapers. And they are not printed in Chinese; they are printed in English. The Chinese are far ahead of Americans in preparing for the future.

Look to U. S. For Leadership

"President Li Yung Hung closed a memorable address recently by saying that China looked to America for leadership and thereby fulfilling the ideals of his country. After the Boxer uprising all the countries of Europe and America received indemnities. The United States got $25,000,000. It took $12,000,000 to repay the damage done by the Boxers. The $13,000,000 that was left was returned to China. It was used to establish a great school in Pekin where boys are trained to prepare for further education in America.

"It is America's right to take a hand in famine relief work in China. The famine has been caused by two years of drouth in the great farming regions that furnish food for the millions of Chinese. They have only local irrigation systems. When the water supply failed they grew no crops. China is not overpopulated. If Manchuria and Mongolia alone were cultivated properly they could feed 3,000,000,000 more people than there are in China today.

Centrist Tries To Form New Berlin Cabinet

BERLIN.—Dr. Wirth, former minister of finance in the cabinet of Chancellor Fehrenbach, today agreed to attempt to form a new cabinet.

Dr. Wirth came into prominence in German national politics early last year when he entered the cabinet of Chancellor Mueller as minister of the treasury. He served in that capacity throughout the life of the Mueller government and last June was appointed minister of finance in the cabinet of Chancellor Fehrenbach which presented its resignation last week.

Dr. Wirth, a member of the center or clerical party, was formerly a minister of finance in the Baden government. He has long been one of the leaders of the center party in South Germany.

COST OF RAIL LABOR ABNORMAL IS CLAIM OF RAILWAY HEADS

S. P. Head First Witness in Transportation Probe of Congress

SUGGESTS FIVE REMEDIES TO RELIEVE THE SITUATION

Also Claims Freight Rates Not Responsible for Depression

WASHINGTON.—The trouble with the railroads is excessive operating expenses; "an abnormal amount" of which is the cost of labor; Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of the Southern Pacific railroad, declared Tuesday before the senate interstate commerce committee. He was the first witness at the opening of the congressional investigation into the whole transportation situation.

Mr. Kruttschnitt suggested five "remedies" which he said were "easily applied and productive of great economies." They are:

"Stop the use for common carrier purposes of highways built with public moneys, without adequate tolls and proper regulations.

"Make inland waterways built or improved at public expense carry themselves as to interest and cost and maintenance by regulating the common carrier traffic on them and by imposing adequate tolls.

"Keep the United States government out of the business of operating steamships and stop the lavish expenditure of public money to provide coast to coast ocean transportation in competition with transcontinental railroads.

"Tolls for use of the Panama canal should be sufficient to pay interest on its cost, operating expenses and maintenance.

"Do not deprive transcontinental carriers of coast to coast traffic by inflexibly enforcing a strict long and short haul clause."

Mr. Kruttschnitt read a prepared statement which asserted freight rates were not responsible for business depression.

FORMAL RECOGNITION OF RUSSIAN SOVIET IS DENIED BY BRITAIN

LONDON.—There has been no formal recognition of the soviet government of Russia by Great Britain and the situation with reference to recognition has not changed since the conclusion of the preliminary Anglo-Russian trading agreement, the foreign office announced Monday. It was stated in the house of commons when the negotiation of that agreement was announced that it was tantamount to recognition, although it was not recognition in the regular diplomatic sense of the word.

The list of the grand jurors will be made public on Saturday morning.

FEAR NEW WAR IN CENTRAL EUROPE

POLISH SEIZURE OF SILESIA THREATENS TO INVOLVE OTHERS

Civil War Spreading, With Germans Arming to Oppose Polish Invaders

INSURGENTS REPORTED TO HAVE CROSSED THE ODER

Capture Kosel and Drive Germans Out of Krandrzin

OPPELN.—By The Associated Press.—Insurgent Polish forces have crossed Oder and captured the town of Kosel, after hard fighting. The population is fleeing in panic.

The French control officer took refuge in the Kosel barracks and the Poles opened fire on him there, according to inter-allied commission reports.

Numerous casualties are reported to have occurred at the Krandrzin railway station when the Poles drove out the Germans after three days continuous fighting.

German Citizens Arming

RATIBOR, Upper Silesia.—German patrols crossed the Oder river into Upper Silesia just before daylight Monday morning and captured six Poles, one of whom was suspected of killing a number of Germans.

The leader of the patrol, declaring the Pole had admitted the killings, said: "Two men were detailed to attend him—he disappeared, but probably could be found floating down the Oder."

Italian troops here declare that they have lost severely in the fighting with Polish insurgents and appear greatly incensed.

They are declared to have shown unkindness towards Polish prisoners who are generally being handed over to them by their German captors. Ammunition has been received here and German citizens are being armed and told to defend themselves.

Fear New War

BERLIN.—(By The Associated Press.)—Genuine alarm seems to be felt in entente circles in Berlin that the Polish insurgent seizure of Upper Silesia may result in a German Polish war with the possibility of all central Europe being involved in another conflict.

From all accounts, civil war now is spreading throughout Upper Silesia, the Germans having organized locally to repulse the invaders.

Refuse to Send Troops

So far the German government has refused to send government troops to assist the Silesian Germans, but it is feared here that its resistance can not last long if the supreme council of the allies does not afford relief from the situation the Poles have created in spite of the council's orders.

It is considered here that French and Polish official circles can hardly continue to sustain the claim that German propagandists have greatly exaggerated the situation, which is regarded in Berlin as a repetition of the experiments of D'Annunzio and Zeligouski at Fiume and Vilna, respectively, but upon a much large scale.

Sympathy is Changing

Comment in entente circles indicates that Germany's refusal so far to send government troops into the district is creating sympathy for the German government in those circles, the French excepted, and the feeling appears to be growing that the supreme council will treat Germany generously in deciding upon the division of Upper Silesia.

Gen. Lerond, head of the inter-allied commission in upper Silesia, and other of the French officials are being harshly criticized by the rest of the entente delegations for permitting the adventure of Korfanty, leader of the Polish insurgents, to assume such proportions.

German Officers in Charge

RATIBOR, Upper Silesia.—(By The Associated Press.)—Former German army officers have taken charge of the district on the west bank of the Oder, in this section of upper Silesia and are issuing rifles, furnishing machine guns, drilling the population and garrisoning the town. The French and Italian troops are being ignored and are remaining neutral on guard duty while the entire east bank of the Oder as far north as Krappitz, is in possession of the Poles.

The Germans have commandeered automobiles and established courier service.

The headquarters service has requisitioned barracks and is accepting volunteers, who have been so numerous that guns were issued to only three men in every fifteen.

Italians on Defensive

At Krappitz is a huge flag of the German empire flying above the market place over the heads of the small French force there.

Big German Financier Advises Germany To Accept

BERLIN.—The advice which Robert Friedlaender, widely known industrialist and financier, gives his countrymen in the course of an examination of the allied ultimatum and protocol, is this:

"The fate of Germany and her future good name are in our hands: Let us go to work. This document has not been drafted by generals or politicians, but drawn up by sober minded, calmly calculating businessmen, who while not wholly disinterested, have carefully weighed the prerequisites upon which their conclusions are based."

TERMS REASONABLE HE BELIEVES

Herr Friedlaender believes that the allies' terms are acceptable, he says, because they are not unreasonable.

This German economic expert sets forth the things necessary to Germany's ability to carry out the conditions of the protocol as "the return of Germany's industrial capacity, inventive genius and enterprise to the pre-war basis at least, and that no integral parts of her territory be detached, thus causing irredents on the borders."

HARD ROAD AHEAD BUT IT'S BEST, HE SAYS

Herr Friedlaender commends the authors of the reparation document and the ultimatum for wisely having refrained from projecting the questions of guilty or moral responsibility for the war into the present issue. He tells his countrymen they have a thorny, rocky road ahead of them, but that acceptance now will remove "the paralyzing burden of uncertainty."

HEALTH DEPARTMENT URGES VACCINATION OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

Arrangements to be Made for Vaccination Without Cost in Children's Clinic

ENDEAVOR TO PREVENT EPIDEMIC NEXT WINTER

Urge 100% Vaccination Before Opening of School in Fall

With a view to the prevention of another epidemic of smallpox among school children next winter, the city health department has launched a campaign to attempt to have all of the children vaccinated during the summer months before September.

Arrangements have been made with the children's clinic to have them taken care of on Saturday afternoons during the entire summer. It is understood that these arrangements have been made for the children whose parents feel they are unable to pay charges of having their children vaccinated. Because parents refuse to have their children vaccinated in the winter for fear of catching cold, the city health department has decided upon this plan of taking care of this important matter during the summer.

Figures compiled by the department show that school children of La Crosse last year lost over 5431 school days, or 20.3 school years on account of smallpox, and through vaccination this summer, the department hopes to alleviate this condition.

The smallpox epidemic can be prevented by successful vaccination such as is proposed and the health department urges that every child and teacher be vaccinated before the opening of school next fall.

Questionnaires to ascertain whether children have been vaccinated are being distributed in the schools and are to be filled out by the parents of the children. While this is not to be a compulsory vaccination campaign, it is requested that the department be given hearty co-operation in the matter to the end that the city may not experience another widespread attack of smallpox during the coming winter.

INDIANS WEDDED 20 YEARS ARE REMARRIED BY JUDGE BRINDLEY

Twenty years after they were married for the first time, Charles Winneshiek and Alice Dixon, Winnebago Indians, of the town of Holland, are starting a second honeymoon. Charles and Alice were remarried Tuesday morning by County Judge Brindley. They had been married according to Winnebago tribal rights but they wanted to be married according to the white man's ceremony, too. The best man and bridesmaid were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Funmaker, niece and nephew of the couple. After a tour of local stores, the four will return to their homes in Holland where a big wedding feast will be served. And there will be much rejoicing in the fepees of the Winneshieks and Funmakers.

MILWAUKEE MEN GET 23 YEARS IN PRISON FOR THEFT OF AUTO

JANESVILLE, Wis.—Twenty-three years in state's prison at hard labor was the sentence for Ralph Jewell, and George Weaver, of Milwaukee, by Judge J. F. Lyon, at Elkhorn, Monday afternoon. These men had plead guilty to the charge of burglary and larceny and taking a car without the consent of the owner.

LA CROSSE CROWD AT WEST SALEM IS WELL ENTERTAINED

Kiwanis Club Received With Band When Auto Procession Arrives in Village

BIG CROWD AT HOLSTEIN SALE HELD IN THE STOCK PAVILION

Splendid Dinner Served in Federated Church at Noon

The Kiwanis club spirit and the West Salem spirit, both of which radiate good fellowship and hospitality, met on the main street in the village shortly after high noon Tuesday and forced the sun to come out smiling from behind a cloud while these neighborly spirits joined in a parade down the thoroughfare behind the West Salem military band.

The occasion was the arrival in the village of the Kiwanis club and officers of the Chamber of Commerce to attend the second annual Holstein sale in the stock pavilion. The band met the procession of forty automobiles from La Crosse at the intersection of the north road and the main street of the village and escorted the visitors down through the business district.

The parade ended at the Federated church, where the La Crosse crowd was served a splendid dinner. Interest in the repast was enhanced when it was learned that the proceeds of the dinner would go toward a fund to furnish a Jessie McKee memorial room in a hospital at Madison. A substantial sum was realized from the dinner and this was added to by donations from members of the La Crosse party.

During the repast an orchestra headed by Wilbur Holcomb which the Kiwanis club had brought from La Crosse furnished lively music.

Immediately following the repast the visitors proceeded to the stock sales pavilion and joined the crowd of buyers and spectators which nearly filled the large building.

The sale, which started at 10 in the morning was resumed early in the afternoon and lasted until close to the supper hour.

VAN LEAR AND LEACH WIN NOMINATIONS IN MILL CITY PRIMARY

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Thomas Van Lear, endorsed by labor, and Brig. General George E. Leach, republican city convention choice, were nominated for Mayor from a field of five seeking that office in Monday's city primaries, according to incomplete returns early today.

Van Lear maintained a lead of about 3,000 votes over Leach. Returns from 155 of the 273 precincts in the city gave Van Lear 20,719 and Leach 20,311. Three other candidates received a small vote.

The general election will be held June 13.

"TIM" IS GRANDPA

"Tim Toolin" is a grandpa.

Announcement was made Tuesday of the birth of a daughter Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. David McKown of Prairie du Chien, at a La Crosse hospital.

Mrs. McKown is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taggart.

And it would not be a bit surprising if the pedestrian sauntering in the vicinity of Fourteenth and Winnebago streets should hear the refrain of a familiar old song wafting through the windows, most any night this week.

CENTER AND SOCIALISTS VOTE FOR IT

Other Parties in Debate But are Expected to Agree to Allied Conditions Eventually

DEMAND THAT BAVARIA MAKE HASTE TO DISARM

France Warns Germany Not to Send Troops in Silesia Against Poles

PARIS.—(By the Associated Press.)—News received from Berlin Tuesday morning led French official circles to expect that Germany would accept all the ultimatum conditions.

Expect Decision at Once

BERLIN. — By The Associated Press.—Acceptance of the allied ultimatum relative to reparations was expected in the reichstag here Tuesday when that body convened. The centrists and the majority socialists, as a result of their conferences Monday, were believed to have definitely aligned themselves in favor of yielding to the entente demands, and, while the democratic and German people's parties held a long session Monday night debating the matter, it was felt that opposition to the allied terms was rapidly dwindling.

The people's party, headed by Dr. Gustav Stresemann, was reported resigned to the inevitable, and it was said it would join the majority socialists, not desiring to antagonize the parties making up the government coalition. Monday's events appeared to show that the situation had resolved itself into a competition between the various parties for first place in the assenting column.

Demand Bavaria Disarm

The majority socialists adopted a resolution Monday, pledging their support to "every sincere effort to carry out the terms presented at London, in view of the military coercion and violence with which Germany is threatened." The resolution declared acceptance of the ultimatum would fail of its real purpose if Bavaria did not make an unequivocal declaration that she was prepared to disarm and disband her civilian guards by June 30. The center party yielded to arguments presented by Dr. Wilhelm Mayer, German ambassador to Paris, and would, it was believed today, give undivided support to a resolution expressing Germany's acceptance of the entente's demands.

France Warns Berlin

The note sent to Berlin by Premier Briand of France, in which Germany was informed that the sending of government troops into Upper Silesia would be considered by France as a violation of the Versailles treaty had an influence in bringing about a decision on the part of several deputies to join the elements ready to accept the allied ultimatum.

WEAR A NET OR GET A HAIR CUT ADVICE TO WORKING BOYS

Unique Safety First Posters are Shown at Industrial Conference at Appleton

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS ARE DISCUSSED BY DELEGATES

Exhibits Deal With Employment and Inspection Work in State

APPLETON, Wis.—Boys, if you must have long hair, wear a cap or hair net while at work.

The above caption is one of the unique notices among the many posters appearing in the Appleton vocational school Tuesday interesting the large attendance of industrial experts from all over the country here at the fourth annual Wisconsin industrial service conference, the principal aim of which is the promotion of greater safety in factories, offices and by the general public.

"Get a hair cut, boys," a large sign directs the delegate's eye to a view of a machine containing hair pulled from the head of a young man, due the length of his hair.

Another poster cautions against attempts to clean machinery in action, showing the possibility of having a hand cut off. The fact that gloves, loose or torn sleeves, long hair and neckties, caused many injuries, is illustrated with the dictum never to wear them when working or near machinery in operation. Legs burned by molten metal should have been encased in the right kind of leggings and shoes, it is warned.

The entire industrial cycle is covered by the posters on the walls of the vocational school here for members of the conference to see. Even the care of the teeth is taught by a series of minute slides. Automobile and railroad accidents due to carelessness, remind the man "on the job" and the public the need of "safety first."

Another exhibit is that of blue prints and charts showing the operation of the industrial commission of Wisconsin under auspices of which the conference is being held. An extensive blue print, "compensable industrial accidents in Wisconsin," shows the cause of the injury by detailing the kind of machinery responsible in each individual case, and whether the injuries were permanent, temporary, and what part of the body was affected. Statistics detail indemnities and medical aid.

A chart embracing public employment in the entire state gives the demand of labor, supply of labor, and labor placed by the industrial commission's public employment department. Industrial accidents under the workmen's compensation act, reported in another chart, by months, from 1911, total 1,800 so far in 1921 against 2,000 in 1920 covering a similar period. A separate wall holds an account of accident frequency and distribution.

Location of deputies' headquarters of the commission at Madison, Superior, Wausau, Green Bay, Oshkosh, Milwaukee, Racine and Eau Claire, are plotted on a map.

The nature and amount of routine inspection work done in the state by the safety and sanitation department of the commission, for the year ending June 30, 1920, gave, under the head of factory inspection: Eleven inspectors, 7,445 inspections, 18,441 accidents reported and 1,434 accidents investigated, it was revealed Tuesday.

Three inspectors examined 1,025 buildings in the state, 25 fire escapes and 27 elevators.

Heated discussion is taking place at the various meetings of the conference dealing with fine points of safety precautions and industrial service measures.

CHIPPEWA INDIANS INCENSED BY NEW COMMISSIONER'S BAN ON TRIBAL DANCES AS "IMMORAL"

DULUTH, Minn.—Chippewa Indians in the Lake uperior district expect to disregard a recent order issued by Charles H. Burke, newly appointed commissioner of Indian affairs, which condemns certain Indian dances as "immoral" and suggests that this type of dances be eliminated.

John Arten of Superior, member of the legislative committee of the Head of the Lakes council, said Tuesday the council received a similar order several years ago when Cato Sells was Indian commissioner.

Ignored Sells' Order.

No attention was paid to the first order, Mrk Arten said, as the council considered "decent" all dances indluged in by the tribe.

Commissioner Burke, in his letter, does not condemn dancing in itself, but states that "the dance, however, under the most primitive and pagan conditions is apparent to be harmful."

In the Lake Superior district it seems most of the dancing is done by the older Indians. According to Mr. Arten, the dances contain nothing more objectionable than the "squaw dance," wherein men and women form a circle and follow the cadence of the drummers.

Youngsters Prefer Jazz

The younger members of the tribe seldom participate in the tribal dances, Mr. Arten said. Instead they dress in modern styles and attend up-to-date dances of their white cousins.

"Chippewa Indians hold their dances sacred and the old members of the tribe feel there is nothing 'immoral' in any of the old custom dances," Mr. Arten said. The "sun" and "snake" dances, Mr. Arten said, were never permitted in the Lake Superior district.

ASK BAN ON SALE OF WHEAT BLEACHED BY ARTIFICIAL MEANS

MADISON, Wis.—Sale of artificially bleached flour in Wisconsin is prohibited by a committee on agriculture bill passed by the assembly Monday morning. The measure would prohibit adulteration of flour through substitutes, or other means.

A proposal to create a board of approval which would pass on all memorials, and public works of all kinds, with a view to improving their artistic properties, was killed on a division vote. It had been introduced by the committee on state affairs as a means to prevent construction of poorly designed structures.

CUPID ALACE

BY FREDERICK HART

The sign, "Private Property—Trespassers Beware," did not have the usual effect on pretty Mildred Hamilton when she saw it conspicuously displayed in a pole stuck upright on the edge of the little pond in the woods. To begin with, Mildred was the undisputed mistress of many acres in that very neighborhood, and was used to roaming the country at her own free will. Then, too, she had heard that the next property had been purchased recently by a Mr. Ceroop, and she had taken an immediate dislike to the name.

"He's probably an old curmudgeon who will put up high fences and buy a bulldog to keep people off," she had said when her father told her of the purchase. "I hate him already!" With which remark she had flung out of the house, pausing only long enough to get her skates.

Mildred set a high opinion of her skill on the steel runners, and when she was in a pet she would often steal away to the little pond on her neighbor's property for an hour in the winter, to return with peace at her heart from the hard exercise and glowing with health from the chilly air.

So when she read the impudent notice board she was merely confirmed in her opinion of the unknown Mr. Scroop. She stuck out her tongue at the sign, and sitting down on a bowlder she slipped off her shoes and in a moment had fastened the gleaming skates in place. Then out upon the ice she glided.

Outer edge—inner edge—back rink turn—grapevine—she "essayed them all, and all successfully. Her irritation at her new neighbor was rapidly dissipating when there was a sudden cracking, a sickening sinking sensation and then she was standing up to her shoulder in the icy water, with the churned-up flood and chunks of broken ice all around her.

The suddenness of it all caused her to utter one frightened scream. She knew that she was in no danger of drowning, for the pond was nowhere over four feet deep—this she had ascertained long ago in the summer months—but she was three miles from her home, and while the distance was nothing to her youthful strength when dry, in soaked clothes it might prove a fatal venture. All these thoughts flashed through her mind as she set herself to clamber out on the ice. At last she managed to find a stretch of ice that would bear her weight, and for a moment lay exhausted. Then she struggled to her feet, to become conscious for the first time of a man standing on the edge of the pond, watching her. As she stood upright he called to her:

"Skate over here—quick; the ice will hold."

She was too wet and cold to wonder at his appearance. Obediently she did as he said, though her wet clothes hampered her. When she got to the shore he stretched out his hand—she grasped it and in a moment was standing beside him. He was struggling with the laces of her skating-shoes. They were obdurate. In a moment he had given up the job, and before Mildred had time to utter more than an astonished protest he had swung her up in his arms and was striding along the lake-shore toward a clump of trees.

He entered the thicket, and Mildred saw a cabin, newly built, with a big stone chimney from which the smoke was curling. Her unknown bearer set her down, opened the door, and beckoned. She staggered in—how clumsy skates are on the land!—and found herself in a comfortable living-room with great wicker chairs and before her a fireplace in which great logs were glowing. Her host threw an armful of kindling on the blaze, and then turned to her.

"You must get out of your clothes and get warm immediately," he said in the voice of one accustomed to be obeyed. "There are a lot of sweaters and breeches and golf stockings and things in that locker over there, and I guess you can find enough dry things. When you are ready, call, and I'll see if there's a cup of coffee to be had."

And he was gone, the door slamming behind him.

Cold conquered amazement. Mildred meekly obeyed him, and in a moment her soaked clothes were steaming before the fire, while she herself, clad in knickers and golf jacket, a bit too large, but very comfortable, was seated before the blaze, feeling that life was really worth living. She called, and in a moment the door opened. Her unknown host entered.

"Ah! I see you managed to make out," he said with a smile—quite an attractive smile. "Now let me get you some coffee."

She was about to protest, but he had a small percolator bubbling over an alcohol flame in a few seconds, and set out cups, sugar and cream. Then and only then, while waiting for the coffee to finish "perking," did Mildred find her chance.

"You are a remarkable young man," she said calmly. "You pick me up without a by-your-leave and kidnap me here—though I'm very glad, you did."

"You are a remarkable young lady," he replied equally calmly. "You did not scream and struggle, but realized, as few would have done, that I did the only thing possible under the circumstances. And I am very glad, too. And now perhaps you'll tell me who you are and why you are here."

"My name is Mildred Hamilton and I live next door, and I've always skated on that pond; and father told me that a horrid old—old fubbertigibbet named Mr. Scroop had bought the property and put up notice boards, and so I couldn't stand that, and came over. And I hate Mr. Scroop, because if he hadn't bought the property I probably wouldn't have come over and fallen in."

"I must confess that I am grateful to Mr. Scroop," said the young man, busying himself with the percolator. "But you mistake his motives. He put that board there because he knew the ice wasn't safe, and he thought it would do more to keep people off than the ordinary 'Danger' sign. And I don't think he is as black as you paint him."

"How could he help being mean, with that name?"

"He isn't to blame for his name. I know, because—I am Mr. Scroop!"

"Os-h!" Mildred grew red. Then she said in a small voice, "C-can you ever forgive me for being so horrid?"

The young man laughed.

"I've been waiting for the chance to meet you ever since I found that we were neighbors," he said. "And I'm more than grateful to my name because it brought it about sooner than I had hoped. And—I think there'll be a cold snap tonight. Will you let me come and call and be properly introduced, and then—come and skate with me tomorrow?"

Mildred dropped her eyes to hide her blushes.

"I—I should love it," she whispered.

Horrors of Prohibition

"What are you going to do with all that home-made creme de jazz you worked out with sugar and corn-meal and so forth?"

"That's the question!" said Uncle Bill Botticlop. "What are we goin' to do with it? We can't drink it and it's too expensive to be thrown away."—Washington Star.

NEW MICHIGAN CONGRESSMAN CUTS HIS THROAT

BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—Representative William H. Frankhauser from the Third Michigan district cut his throat with a razor at a sanitarium here Monday afternoon. He was found dead in a bathtub. He was despondent over his illness.

Mr. Frankhauser, whose home was in Hillsdale, was elected to congress last November to succeed Representative J. M. C. Smith, who retired. Mr. Frankhauser, who never had taken his seat in congress, was operated on for gall stones at the University of Michigan hospital about two months ago. He came here May 6.

Mrs. Comstock Tells How Cuticura Healed Child's Eczema

"My little daughter had eczema when she was eighteen months old. The eruptions on her face were large and red and festered and scaled over with a black scale. I began using Cuticura Soap and it was a great help, but not until I began using Cuticura Ointment, together with the Cuticura Soap, did the eruptions entirely leave. She was healed." AS HID TREASURE

If thou cryest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understand; if thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as hid treasures; then shall thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God.—Proverbs ii: 3.

Fiume and Silesia

RECALLING the affair of Fiume, there seems to be some reason behind the German fear that the present activity of Polish forces in Upper Silesia augurs ill for their continued ownership of that region, regardless of the largely favorable result of the plebiscite in all but a few of the districts in which it was held. They remember that the port city of Fiume was by the treaty with Austria ceded to Jugo-Slavia as its outlet to the sea, but that that portion of the treaty was never put in force and Fiume is not now a Jugo-Slav port. Instead, D' Annunzio seized the town with an irregular force of Italians and finally, after several not very convincing efforts of the Italian government to dislodge him, the city was set up as an independent sovereignty—virtually an Italian protectorate. The matter was adjusted peaceably enough by a compromise, but all the concessions were made by Jugo-Slavia, to whom the city rightfully belonged by the treaty. The situation in Silesia is somewhat similar, except that the Germans have not so good a claim for the region, from the technical standpoint, as had Jugo-Slavia to Fiume. Fiume was awarded to the Jugo-Slavs by treaty, but Upper Silesia was left to the decision of a plebiscite, final disposition to be made by an allied commission which was to take the plebiscite into consideration in reaching its decision. Already there has been indication that the plebiscite by which the region voted German will not be considered as a whole, but that there is a strong likelihood that such districts as went Polish— and some others, perhaps, for the sake of forming a convenient administrative unit—will be given to Poland. Now the Polish insurgents have seized in advance of the commission decision not only all of the territory that voted Polish but some that was German in its sympathies as well—including most of the valuable mining country. The same sort of half-hearted attempt to rebuke and dislodge the insurgents is being made as was made against D' Annunzio, and the prospect that Korfanty will continue to hold what he has taken seems to be as probable. All of which is a forbidding augury for the hope that the coal and iron of Upper Silesia will continue to play its former important part in German national economy, for the rule that "possession is nine points of the law" seems to have been hardly at all diluted in European affairs by any of the lofty addresses to the shrine of international law and fairness which marked the period of the war and the armistice.

Laws

WE are a nation of law makers and law breakers. Take the Wisconsin legislature for example. In round numbers 1,000 bills have been introduced. If half of them pass the grist will be at the rate of 5,000 per decade, which approximately is equivalent to the number of sections in the revised statutes, not to mention enough sub-sections to more than double the total.

Where ignorance of the law is no excuse for breaking them, simplification would seem to be both wise and desirable. Of course we shall never come to 100 per cent common sense in the matter, for we have not begun to outgrow the tendency Kipling had in mind which "bids us flout the law we make, which bids us make the law we flout," but making liberal allowances for necessary elaboration it may be said that the Ten Commandments fairly cover the ground of man's duties one to another.

However, since as a nation we seem permanently addicted to the vice of making laws, the best cure for the evil would seem to be law enforcement. The other day a South Dakota humorist said that he had no objection to prohibition, and that he planned to observe the law "as soon as it goes into effect." As a nation, we follow the logic of "what's the constitution between friends," and to wink at violations is a growing practice among us.

Indeed, the evil of law-breaking as a national practice is not so much in the injury done by any given infraction of law, as the permanent damage of the national character in loss of sincerity and probity. Perhaps we do not split enough rails nowadays. Listen to young Abraham Lincoln, in his twenty-eighth year:

"As the patriots of '76 did to the support of the Declaration of Independence, so to the support of the Constitution and the laws, let every American pledge his life, his property and his sacred honor; let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample upon the blood of his fathers and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty. Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap. Let it be taught in schools, in seminaries, and in colleges. Let it be written in primers, spelling books, and almanacs. Let it be preached from the pulpits, proclaimed in legislative halls, and enforced in courts of justice. In short, let it become the political religion of the nation."

We may pass this by with a shrug. We may excuse ourselves by saying there are so many laws underfoot that one can't walk upon honest ground, but if the integrity of its people has any value in the life of a nation we may well study the words of a wise leader who valued Americanism according to the experiences of a poor boy who had learned that here industry and ambition can hew a path from the bottom to the top, and who consecrated his life to the nation's honor and gave it in the nation's defense.

A National Test

PRESIDENT HARDING stirred national pride when he announced a foreign policy fundamental in which was a guarantee of the protection of the rights of American citizens the world over. His announcement appeared to be no mere political gesture; it rang with solemn purpose.

Monday we published the story of a colony of Americans in Moscow, subjected to hardships and deprived of rights inherent in its members as American citizens. Virtually prisoners, suffering privations and in peril of their lives, for more than two years they have been deprived even of the right of free communication with their government and their friends and relatives at home.

It would seem that the conscience of this sovereign nation will find no rest until this wrong is righted and relief carried to these sufferers at the hands of bolshevist barbarism. America does not want war, but it must have its honor if it is to stand before the world as a leader of civilization. Its diplomatic resources should be swiftly utilized to the fullest extent in exacting for its citizens their rights of birth and nationality, and its power should follow upon the heels of its demand for compliance with the rules of international law. Until this is done justice will suffer and the dignity and prestige of the United States of America will remain below par.

Mrs. Thomas Hermann and daughter, Miss Florence Hermann, sailed from New York today on the Lusitania. They will go to Christiania, Norway, where Miss Hermann will study music.

Several La Crosse aldermen, a party of prominent local business men and others will make a trip to Hokah tomorrow to meet the Farmers' and Citizens' Improvement association. This association was formed among the residents of Houston and Winona counties to raise funds for road improvement.

President Day of the board of public works is figuring on the installation of a new system in buying coal for use in the city's buildings and offices. It is a heat unit system which calls for a test of each carload of coal delivered and the contract with the dealer is worded in such a way that the price per ton depends upon the number of heat units per ton in the coal. The apparatus costs about $100 but Mr. Day is confident the saving effected would more than pay for the installation.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Fred Kroner received a small package yesterday from Capt. Howard of the Eighteenth cavalry. It came from China and contained several magnolia slips and Chinese lilies. Mr. Kroner has not seen Capt. Howard since the two met in Chickamauga park two years ago.

So many logs are tied up in the drives by low water that lumbermen have decided to send their logs by rail to points along the Mississippi river where they can be rafted. The expense attached to shipping logs by rail is enormous as compared to rafting, but if the logs do not get to the mills in time many men will be thrown out of employment.

The two blocks of brick pavement from Fourth to Sixth on State and one from Main to State on Fifth will have to be torn up and relaid. When the pavement was laid last fall there was frost in the ground and when the frost left the ground this spring the pavement began to say.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

John Dowling, a resident of La Crosse since 1857 and prominently identified with the growth of North La Crosse, is contemplating moving to South Bend, Washington.

The steel pipe for the artesian well water is all laid. Water is flowing and now all that remains to complete the job is to erect some handsome fountains.

Mr. Halvorsen is building a residence in Oak Grove park. The park and immediate vicinity are booming and will become an important suburb at no distant date.

Five hundred people will leave Milwaukee next Sunday morning on a special train to attend the Catholic convention here. A special train will also arrive from Wausau and one will also arrive from Winona. Souvenir booklets are being prepared and will be distributed to 5,000 people. The booklets contain a picture of the first Catholic church in La Crosse, a picture of Bishop Heiss, one of Bishop Flasch, and of various buildings in La Crosse.

A Man For the Ages

BY

Irving Bacheller

(Copyright 1919 by Irving Bacheller)

He had proved himself a wise, far-seeing man. Sarah's friends had been out in Springfield for a visit. They had invested money in the business. Her brother had decided to bring his family west and settle in Sangamon county.

The lovers stopped in a grove at noon and fed their horses and Harry, who had a bundle of Joe's lucifer matches in his pocket—a gift from Samson—built a fire and made a broach of green sticks on which he broiled beef steak.

A letter from Harry to Sarah Traylor tells of the beauty of the day—of blue bells and scarlet lilies in the meadow grass, of the whistling quail, of pigeons and wild geese flying across the sky and of his great joy in seeing again the vast sunlit reaches of the level, virgin lands.

"It was my great day of fulfillment, all the dearer because I had come back to health and youth and beloved scenes out of those years shadowed with loneliness and despair," he writes. "The best part of it, I assure you, was the face I loved and that musical voice ringing like a bell in merry laughter and in the songs which had stirred my heart in the days of its tender youth. You—the dear gentle mother of my later boyhood—are entitled to know of my happiness when I heard that voice tell me in its sweeter tone of the love which has endured through all these years of stern trial. We talked of our plans as we sat among the ferns and mosses in the cool shade sweetened by the incense of burning fagots, over that repast to which we shall be returning often for refreshment in poorer days. We had thought of you and of the man so well beloved of you and us in all these plans. We shall live in Springfield so that we may be near you and him and our friend, Honest Abe."

It is a long letter presenting minute details in the history of that sentimental journey and allusion to matters which have no part in this record. Its substance being fully in the consciousness of the writer, he tenderly folds it up and returns it to the package—yellow and brittle and faded and having that curious fragrance of papers that have lain for scores of years in the gloom and silence of a locked mahogany drawer. So alive are these letters with the passion of youth in long forgotten years that the writer ties the old ribbon and returns them to their tomb with a feeling of sadness, finding a singular pathos in the contrast of their look and their contents. They are turning to dust but the soul of them has gone into this little history.

The young man and woman mounted their horses and resumed their journey. It was after 2 o'clock. The Grand Prairie lay ahead of them. The settlement of Plain's End was twenty-one miles away on its farther side. They could just see its tall oak trees in the dim distance.

"We must hurry if we get there before dark," said the girl. "Above all we must be careful to keep our direction. It's easy to get lost down in the great prairie."

They heard a cat-bird singing in a near thicket as they left their camp. It reminded Bim of her favorite ballad and she sang it with the spirit of old

"My sweetheart, come along —
Don't you hear the glad song
As the notes of the nightingale flow?
Don't you hear the fond tale of the sweet nightingale,
As she sings in the valleys below?
As she sings in the valleys below?"

They went on shoulder-deep in the tall grass on the lower stretches of the prairie. Here and there it gave Harry the impression that he was swimming his horse in "noisy, vivid green water." They startled a herd of deer and a number of wild horses. When they lost sight of the woods at Plain's End the young man, with his cavalry training, was able to ride standing on his saddle until he got it located. It reminded him of riding in the Everglades and he told of his adventures there as they went on, but very modestly. He said not a word of his heroic fight the day that he and sixty of his comrades were cut off and surrounded in the "land of the grassy waters." But Bim had heard the story from other lips.

Late in the afternoon the woods loomed in front of them scarcely a mile off. Near the end of the prairie they came to a road which led them past the door of a lonely cabin. It seemed to be deserted, but its windows were clean and a faint column of smoke rose from its chimneys. There were hollyhocks and sunflowers in its small and cleanly dooryard. A morningglory vine had been trained around the windows.

"Broad creek is just beyond," said Bim. "I don't know how the crossing will be."

They came presently to the creek, unexpectedly swollen. A man stood on the farther shore with some seventy feet of deep and rapid water between him and the travelers.

"That man looks like Stephen Nuckles," said Harry.

"It is Stephen Nuckles," Bim answered.

"Hello, Steve!" the young soldier called.

"Howdy, boy!" said the old minister. "That ar creek is b'lin' over. I reckon you'll have to swim the hosses."

"They're young city horses and not broke to deep water but we'll try them," said Bim.

They tried but Bim's horse refused to go beyond good footing.

"You kin light at that ar house an' spend the night but the folks have gone erway," the minister called.

Choosing a Catcher's Mit

Written especially for the Boys and Girls Newspaper by

Steve O'Neil

Catcher of the Cleveland American League Team.

When I'm picking a mit I always choose a small one, for this reason: It is easier to pick up a ball that has hit the dirt in back of the plate, with a small mit than a large one.

A good pocket in the catcher's glove is necessary. Often the mit newly purchased will not have a deep pocket. This is nothing against the glove, for it is a simple matter to make a pocket in it by constant use and, if necessary, by removing a little of the padding.

Try the mit on your hand before you decide to keep it. See that it feels just right. Don't get one that is too large for your hand, nor one that is too small.

INDOOR MAGIC

Hatching Chickens

Crack an egg in two as evenly as possible. Make a small hole in one end of the shell.

With the contents emptied, place a small chick, or a canary, or other tiny bird, in the shell and put it together with paste and pieces of tissue paper. The hole in the shell will allow plenty of air for the bird.

Show this prepared egg, with a good one, to your audience. Request some one to crack the good egg, to prove that it is real. Then carefully break the prepared egg, and the little bird inside will stick its head out, much to the astonishment of all your observers.

We Are Improving!

(By Dr. William E. Barton)

We are interested in ourselves, and in what people think of us. If there is any man in Europe for whose good opinion we have reason to care, it is Viscount James Bryce. His book, "The American Commonwealth," still stands as the most notable interpretation of our institutions since De Tocqueville. Comes now his new work, "Modern Democracies," the fruit of his maturest judgment. It is a solemn book in some of its aspects, and not without warning to America as well as to the rest of the world. But here is what he says about America now and fifty years ago:

"Fifty years ago administration was worse and politics more corrupt than they are today, but reformers were fewer and found far fewer listeners. Today they are heard gladly, because the public conscience and the public sense of what America means for the world is more sensitive. Every fresh effort stimulates these feelings and keeps the need for improvement before the minds of those who lead. When I compare the volume of discussion of political, social and economic subjects which issue from the American press today, descriptions of present evils, analyses of their sources, suggestions for their extinction, with the scanty consideration these matters formerly received, and with a spirit of lugubrious despondency that chilled the reformers of those days, I am astonished at the change, and welcome it as augguring well for future progress."

There is comfort in this. We are not so good as we ought to be, but we once were worse!

The "good old times" were not so good as fond memory paints them. There were evils in the olden time, and they had friends in high places. It was not easy to dislodge them, and many of them are still firmly entrenched. But our generous and sympathetic as well as discriminating critic, believes that we are better than we were a half century ago, with a finer public spirit, and a spirit as reflected in our press that has in it much hope for the future.

Thank you, Sir James. We are encouraged by your good opinion. It helps us to know that you have not lost confidence in us. We are not as good as we ought to be; we are glad you think us better than we were. We hope you are right. Let us inform you in strict confidence, we intend to be better still!

Art Critics in London

Londoners have had time to settle down and get used to their statue of Abraham Lincoln which faces Westminster Abbey; but not so their country cousins. Provincials still stand around in groups, criticising it from every angle. A canny Scot thus engaged turned suddenly to one of the many American sailors who are at present star-spangling London, and asked:

"Hoot, mon, what's the chair there for?"

While Jackie was trying to frame a reply to the query a London cockney standing by answered for him:

"That's so's the ole gent can sit down when 'e's tired of standing up to look at ole England."

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ½ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

LEGISLATORS PLAN DEMONSTRATION FOR IRISH RECOGNITION

Huber Resolution up for Consideration by State Affairs Committee Wednesday

MADISON, Wis.—The Irish sympathizers of Wisconsin are planning their second demonstration before the legislature on Wednesday when the Huber resolution, urging recognition of the Irish republic, is up for consideration. The first display was made when Miss MacSwiney spoke in the assembly chamber three months ago.

Request was granted chairman Matheson of the state affairs committee for the use of the assembly chamber to hold the hearing. It is expected that representatives will be here from every part of the state to express their sentiments on the question of official recognition of the so-called republic.

Frank Dempsey, lord mayor of Mallow, Ireland, who is in this country making a plea for the freedom of his country, will address the meeting as the principal speaker. John Martin of Green Bay and Daniel Grady of Portage are also scheduled to take an active part in the demonstration.

The Huber resolution which calls upon the president to immediately grant official recognition to the Irish republic has already gone through the senate with but five dissenting votes.

BODY OF U. S. WAR HERO FOUND WITH BULLET IN HEAD

Officer Was One of First American Aviators on Italian Front; Suicide is Belief

BOSTON, Mass.—Captain Paton McGilvary, hero of several notable bombing raids as an American flyer with Italian forces in the world war, was found dead in the rear of a garage in the Back Bay district Tuesday. He had been shot over the left eye.

An automatic pistol lay nearby. Circumstances indicated suicide, officials said.

Captain McGilvary, who had been decorated with the Italian cross for bravery, entered the commercial aviation field in New England after the war. His venture was said to have resulted in financial losses. His health was impaired and he went to the woods for a rest.

The body bore only the forehead wound, although at least two shots were fired. The fact, together with the disturbed condition of the ground nearby led to a more thorough investigation than usual.

McGilvary also wore the golden crown and wing, an Italian decoration conferred on the members of the first group of American aviators to reach the Italian front. He was born in Berkeley, Calif., thirty-four years ago and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1916. He was a member of a flying circus that gave exhibitions at Cleveland and other cities after the war.

Son of Badger Educator

MADISON, Wis.—Lewis Paton McGilvary was the son of Evander B. McGilvary, professor of philosophy at the University of Wisconsin, and was himself a graduate of the university in the class of 1916.

While in school he was active in student affairs as a member of the student court, the Student conference, treasurer of his class in 1916 and assistant prom chairman in 1915. He was a member of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity.

MICHIGAN MINE PUT OUT OF COMMISSION BY DYNAMITE BLAST

IRON MOUNTAIN.—Two charges of dynamite, placed on the compressed air line running from the Hydraulic Power company's plant to the Chapin mine, Tuesday morning wrecked two lengths of the twenty-four inch pipe and put all operations at the mine at a standstill.

Officials of the mine asserted that the damage could not be repaired for several days and that all operations would remain at a standstill. The cause of the act and the perpetrators are unknown.

CHINA LOOKING TO U. S. FOR LEADERSHIP Y. M. C. A. MAN SAYS

of girl babies; only a small percentage of Chinese girls are educated. In 1917 China freed itself from opium. A business house of the western world imported $25,000,000 worth of opium into the country to reap profits of millions. The Chinese government borrowed $25,000,000 and bought up this opium and destroyed it. Today, just outside of Amoy the farmers are growing opium again. Why? Because land is taxed so high that the only thing poor land will grow is opium and the farmers are raising it in order to pay the taxes. China will have to go through another battle to suppress the opium.

"No man can tell of the development of China without speaking of the work of Catholic and Protestant churches. The name of Washington, Lincoln, Grant, Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson and now Harding, are household words in China. Advertise an illustrated lecture on Lincoln anywhere in China and you will pack the largest theater or auditorium. The people are eager to hear anything about Lincoln.

How Chinese Do Business

"In the cotton mills of China women work for 20 cents a day. In the iron plants the men toil hard all day for $20 a month. Yet the country is crazy for standard American-made goods, goods that are made by the same men year in and year out, are wrapped in the same kind of paper and are of the same quality all the time. To give you an idea of how they favor American goods let me tell you this instance. The Standard Oil company is selling enormous quantities of kerosene in China. A lot of lamps were sent over that cost a couple of dollars. The Chinese wouldn't buy them because they cost too much. Finally the Standard Oil devised a cheap little lamp that would sell for seven cents in China. An agent for the company called on a merchant, showed him the lamp and asked him if he would take a few and try to sell them. He said he would. The agent asked him how many he wanted. The merchant reached for his counting board, figured for a few seconds and then said, 'Two hundred thousand.'"

Mr. Elliott paid tribute to the farsightedness of American business men who have been seeking a market for their products in China and uttered especial praise for the Bump Paper Fastener company of La Crosse, saying that Mr. Bump had entered the Oriental market, realizing the future there for American products.

In Siberia domestic cattle and horses become lighter in winter.

ASSEMBLY REFUSES TO IMPEACH BLAINE ON ARNOLD REQUEST

Votes Unanimously to Refuse to Receive Communication from Madison Man

MADISON, Wis.—The assembly Tuesday morning summarily disposed of the petition by Victor H. Arnold, president of the Madison Bond company, calling for impeachment of Governor John J. Blaine, when they voted unanimously to refuse to receive the communication.

Arnold had asked that he be permitted to appear before a committee of the lower house, or before a committee of the whole, to explain how the governor had denied him an audience on a busy day. He wanted to tell the executive of his troubles which had developed over charges he had made against Barton O. Backman, vice president of the company, alleged to have embezzled funds.

Governor Blaine in a letter to Arnold, after his request for an audience, advised that he co-operate with the district attorney in prosecuting the case.

Assemblyman Mark Catlin made a motion that the assembly refuse to hear the communication, but on advice of the speaker it was withdrawn, while the clerk read the charges of Mr. Arnold. Motion was then made and carried unanimously without debate, that the lower house refuse to receive the petition.

BADGER PROHIBITION AGENT IS ARRESTED ON FEDERAL WARRANT

Herzog Charged With Transportation and Sale of Liquor and Fraud Against U. S.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Bert P. Herzog, in charge of the enforcement of prohibition in Milwaukee and the rest of the eastern district of Wisconsin was arrested Tuesday on a federal warrant. The charge is conspiracy to violate the prohibition act by the possession, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquors, and to defraud the government.

Mr. Herzog was arraigned before Harry L. Kellogg, United States commissioner. Herzog waived preliminary examination and was bound over to the federal grand jury.

Bail was fixed at $15,000, which he thought he could furnish. The entire proceedings occupied about five minutes. Federal officials refused to give details regarding the alleged offense.

AUDIT AND PURCHASE AND PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMITTEES CALLED

A meeting of the committees on audit and purchase and public utilities has been called at the city hall Tuesday night, May 10, at 8 o'clock. The meeting is called to consider the Seventeenth street sewer extension and appropriate $28,000 for said purpose.

NEW SYSTEM FOR STREET REPAIR IS ANNOUNCED

Coulee and the road between La Crosse and Onalaska.

Re-surface All Streets

"The twelve or thirteen miles of granite top macadam streets in the city of La Crosse under the present ruling values may be re-surfaced at an expense of approximately 75 cents per running foot. This treatment will reclaim these streets, putting them in first class condition for all kinds of traffic and experience has shown us that after treatment at a cost as stated they will remain in good condition for a period of from six to ten years. The cost of brick on these streets at the present prices would be approximately $400 for each fifty foot lot. As a purely business proposition, it is, in my judgment, better to re-surface the present granite top macadam streets at a small expense, than to attempt to lay in brick upon these streets within the next five years. For example, let me submit to your consideration. Suppose the cost of brick construction would decline to $300 per 50 foot lot; the interest on $300 at 6 per cent for five years is $90, nearly three times as much as the entire cost of re-surfacing the streets as proposed. From this example you will see that the argument to newly pave the streets is an economical loss, and does not stand comparison. Every citizen can secure 6 per cent interest on his money, therefore, it is perfectly legitimate to figure interest on the cost of brick paving as a total loss, (to say nothing about the principal) in a larger measure, than it is to figure as a loss, the re-surfacing of the streets.

Urges Bond Issue

"I therefore recommend that this council give prompt and careful consideration to the proposition to immediately authorize a bond issue to make it possible to begin work at once to re-surface as many of our macadam streets as possible this year, and complete the entire program as early as possible in the spring of 1922.

"I further recommend that no assessment be made against the abutting property for such improvement.

"I further recommend that the bonds be authorized and offered for sale only as fast as the money is needed to pay for the work.

"From extensive inquiry made since the proposed work for this year has been stopped by petition, I am led to the conclusion that a large majority of the citizens of La Crosse are in favor of this council taking steps immediately to go forward with the work of re-surfacing all granite top macadam streets.

May be Referendum

"However, if there is a doubt in the minds of the aldermen on this point, it may be advisable to submit the proposition to a referendum vote. My opinion is, however, that sufficient publicity may be given the plan through the press, and possibly by holding meetings in the different wards to enable each alderman to learn clearly of the prevailing majority opinion of the property owners, without waiting the necessary time that it would require to hold a special election on the subject.

"The policy the city has been following in recent years of patching the holes in the macadam streets, while unquestionably right in the past, must now, in my opinion, be abandoned for the reason that traffic conditions have changed, and the condition of the pavement now is such as to make it impossible for the patching crews to keep up with the ever increasing holes in the pavement. Another hole appears immediately beside the patch, and in my opinion, the money usually spent for patching should now be placed in the fund appropriated to the re-surfacing as recommended above, and that the policy of patching macadam be entirely abandoned, except as emergency work.

"Mayor."

TOLEDO.—The return of Roger Bresnahan as an active participant in a baseball game appeared likely today when Bresnahan, who is president of the Toledo club of the American association, announced his efforts to obtain a suitable backstop had been unavailing. Bresnahan has been out of the game two years. He is expected to join the club in Milwaukee within a day or two.

TOWNLEY AND LANGER DEBATE THE MERITS OF NONPARTISAN RULE

SALINA, Kan.—Whether the activities of the Nonpartisan league have had a beneficial or injurious effect in North Dakota, formed the groundwork of a debate here Tuesday between A. C. Townley, national head of the league, and William Langer, former attorney general of that state.

A huge tent had been erected to house the audience and arangements were made for a crowd of more than 8,000 persons. Salina has been the headquarters of the league movement in Kansas and many persons from this and surrounding countries were expected to attend.

The movement was brought to the state several months ago by Townley, who anounced that a state-wide campaign to spread its doctrines would be undertaken. According to league officials here, organizers are now working in many parts of the state. Sometime ago Langer came into Kansas and made a series of speeches against the movement, asserting that the league program in North Dakota had been a failure. He recently issued a challenge to Townley to debate the suject and the league head accepted.

HARDING IN NO HURRY FOR KNOX PEACE RESOLUTION

Fears it May Make New Complication in Reparations Case

WASIHNGTON.—President Harding is not asking for delay in the adoption by the house of a peace resolution, it was said Tuesday in high administration quarters, but because of the situation in Europe, growing out of the reparations settlement, he is not insisting that there should be any haste in putting the measure through.

It was said at the time of the enactment of the resolution by the senate, the president was asked whether there was reason for delay in the adoption of the legislation there and the senate was informed that there was none. To emphasize that there was no conflict between the president and congress, however, it was stated that it was thought advisable not to inject a possible complication in the reparations settlement between the allies and Germany by the passage of the resolution by the house at this time.

EFFORT OF ASSEMBLY TO END SESSION IS REJECTED BY SENATE

Lower House Seeks to Fix Date of Adjournment so Farmers Can go Home

MADISON, Wis.—Adjournment of the legislature again came under consideration Tuesday morning when the Fowler resolution, calling for the end of the session sine die June 15, sailed without trouble through the assembly and then met a quiet death, through tabling, in the senate.

Members of the lower house are making moves of practically every description to bring about adjournment so that farmer members may get home to take care of their spring duties. These attempts have been passing the assembly regularly to meet death in the senate.

The same agitation takes place at every session, old members point out, stating that in the end the session takes its regular course, finishing when the work is done.

MODIFY RULES FOR NAMING POSTMASTERS

WASHINGTON. — President Wilson's order for selection of first, second and third-class postmasters under civil service requirements was modified today by President Harding to give a wider field from which postmasters may be chosen. Instead of being required to select the candidates standing highest in a civil service examination for any specific postmastership, the administration, under todays order, gives the place to any one of the three at the head of the qualified list.

M'DONALD WILL HAVE THREE HEAD AT HOLSTEIN SALE

West Salem Breeder to Have Consignment at Big Event in Milwaukee

J. D. McDonald of West Salem will uphold the honor of La Crosse county again this year by representing those interested in pure-bred livestock and particularly those concerned with the doings of the Holstein-Friesian breed at the fourth annual Wisconsin Breeders' state sale to be held under the auspices of the State Holstein association on the state fair grounds at West Allis next Tuesday, May 17. He will consign three head from his herd to the sale. A total of 65 head selected from thirty-five of the very best herds in Wisconsin make up the total consignment. To secure them the committeemen have visited nearly 200 of the leading herds. They have literally pried loose the kind that breeders can ill afford to sell at any price and which it is impossible to buy at private treaty. A desire to maintain the reputation of Wisconsin Holsteins and to keep up the good name and the good work of the state association is responsible for the attitude of Mr. McDonald in making this decision.

The big sale will be held in connection with the annual convention of the Holstein-Friesian Breeders' association which opens at the Republican House, Milwaukee, at 10 o'clock next Monday, May 16. A fine program has been arranged which will close with a banquet at 7 o'clock. There will be a big delegation of Holsteiners on hand from all parts of the state and middle-west and La Crosse breeders should make every possible effort to be on hand and have a part in this most important of Wisconsin Holstein events.

HARDING GIVES TO FUND TO DECORATE GRAVES OF YANKS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—"For these sons of the republic who gave their lives in the world war," President Harding has contributed $25 to the American Legion's fund for the decoration of American graves in Europe, national headquarters of the legion, announced here Tuesday.

"It is only a small bit," the president wrote, "but there comes with it my sincere sympathy and my earnest desire for a notable success of the efforts on the part of the American Legion to make this ceremony a becoming expression of American remembrances."

All American activities in France have been consolidated to assist the legion in the decoration of graves on Memorial day, according to a cablegram from F. E. Drake, commander of the organization's department in France. More than $20,000 has been contributed by legion posts of America to date.

WASHINGTON ASKED TO LOCATE BADGER MISSING 7 YEARS

KENOSHA, Wis.—Appeals were being made to the state department at Washington Tuesday that an effort be made to locate Carl Sorenson, former Kenosha man missing for seven years. A medium, it is declared, has told relatives of the man that he was dead. Sorenson was a member of the crew of a steamer wrecked while going round the horn twelve years ago.

He landed on the shores of Patagonia and later was alleged to have been prominent in business. The last word received from him was seven years ago. Many relatives of Sorenson reside in Kenosha.

BUDDY TO ENTERTAIN FOR LOCAL NURSES AT LEGION MEETING

May Meeting of Legion to be Held at Chamber of Commerce Wednesday Evening

A peppy meeting of the local post of the American Legion to which all of the nurses of the local hospitals have been invited, will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night, according to announcement of W. C. Strehl, commander of the Roy L. Vingers post of the legion here.

That the nurses will turn out in large numbers is the belief of legion officials following the mailing of an invitation to each of the hospitals in the city. The affair is designed to recall the old army days with the Red Cross nurse and the welfare organization hut in France.

And boys, the nurses are going to be there. It's up to you to come out and lend your assistance in the entertainment. The services of an orchestra have been secured. There will be lots of fun and dancing at the meeting and in addition the chow, a feature which has rapidly become popular at the legion meetings, is promised to be the best ever.

Come out and show your nurse a good time.

RAISE COMPENSATION FOR INJURED WORKERS UNDER ASSEMBLY BILL

Sachtjen Bill Engrossed by Assembly Raises Maximum to $19.50 Per Week

MADISON, Wis.—Maximum rates of compensation for injured workmen will be raised from $14.63 to $19.50 per week, under terms of the Sachtjen bill engrossed in assembly Tuesday morning without opposition. The present scale was established several years ago and has not been changed with the rise in living.

This measure was prepared under the direction of Fred M. Wilcox of the industrial commission. If finally passed it will add a little over nine per cent to the cost of compensation insurance to employers, and place the maximum wage basis from $22.50 to $30 a week. A slight increase is also allowed for disfigurement injuries.

Notice was served upon the lower house by Assemblyman Ingalls that he would ask to have his resolution providing for an interim committee to study taxation measures, taken from the table on Wednesday and given final disposition.

AUTO THIEF PLANNED TO VISIT MOTHER IN MINNEAPOLIS SUNDAY

Tells Police He Had Intended to Return With Car to this City on Monday

On being questioned at Central station Monday, the prisoner arrested at Rochester in connection with the theft of the Ford coupe of Edward George Saturday night, gave his name as as August Meyer, 18, of Minneapolis. Meyer previously gave his name as Andrew Mayer, of Hibbing, Minn.

Meyer's story to the police clearly indicates that the lad is not a professional at the auto theft business, but rather pulled the stunt more for a lark. He accompanied several other young men from Minneapolis to this city last Wednesday and all were engaged in a magazine selling business here, according to the police.

Meyer told the police Tuesday morning that they went out in search of recreation Saturday night and not feeling disposed to remain with the others at a dance, he said he wandered out upon the street until he saw the coupe parked with the key left in it and decided to take a ride. Arriving at Galesville he decided that he would go through to Minneapolis, pay his mother a short visit, and return with the car on Monday. He said he had intended to leave the car on the north side on his return to the city.

That the young man appears to have come from a respectable family and surroundings, was the statement of the police Tuesday. It was said that he would perhaps be arraigned in court Tuesday afternoon.

REPORT GENERAL IMPROVEMENT IN WISCONSIN CROPS

Winter Grains Making Rapid Progress; Spring Acreage Somewhat Reduced

MADISON, Wis.—General improvement in Wisconsin crop conditions during the past week is noted, the crop reporting service at Madison reports. Field operations have been resumed after several weeks of inactivity due to wet soil conditions. The season is now practically normal in central districts, about a week in advance of normal in northern districts, and a week late in southern regions.

Winter grains, greatly benefited by the heavy rains, are making rapid growth. Abandonment of acreage is small in view of the open winter. Spring grains in lowlands, which were showing yellow, are again reported to be turning green. Acreage will be decreased as it is now late for seeding.

Plowing for corn is again progressing and planting will begin in a few days in western and southwestern districts. A deficiency of good seed for silage corn is reported in some districts.

Hay crops are making good growth although it is now apparent that a large acreage of old clover was killed during April. Young clover of last year's seeding was not injured materially, but the acreage is less than usual because of high seed prices last spring. Farmers are planning to plant emergency annual hays like millet, peas and oats, etc.

Tobacco seed has been planted, the report states. A considerable decrease in acreage is contemplated. Fruit trees in most localities, particularly in commercial districts, were still dormant during April and frosts and injury were small. Early varieties of apples are now in blossom, except in northern counties.

PEOPLE IN INTERIOR OF SIBERIA REPORTED IN PITIABLE STATE

TOKIO, April 12.—(Delayed)—Conditions in the interior of Siberia are pitiable with practically all the people there in dire need of clothing, food and medicine, according to E. O. Lively, formerly of the American Red Crosse who has arrived here from Vladivostok.

He said that there were many people in Siberia who have not had any new clothing or ample clothing to keep them warm during the last six years. Many were helped by the American Red Cross, but as the Red Cross left the interior in December, 1919, they have suffered through two hard winters since then with inadequate clothing, food and medical supplies.

Senator Newberry returned Monday to his seat in the senate following annulment by the supreme court of his conviction in Michigan of violation of the federal corrupt practices act. He had been absent about a year and a half.

"THE BRAT" TO BE NEW BILL FOR THE BEACH-JONES STOCK

Eloda Sitzer Finds Her Best Role in Famous Success of Broadway and the Movies

"The Brat"—which began life as a Broadway success and later became one of Nazimova's big vehicles in the pictures—will be the bill for the Beach-Jones Stock company at the La Crosse theater for the last half of the week, beginning on Wednesday. The play, as all who have seen it in the pictures will understand, offers an ideal part for Eloda Sitzer, the "little redhead," who is the leading woman of the company.

It is the story of a child of the streets, picked up for begging, who is found in police court and taken to a palatial home by a novelist in search of a type for a new book. The story of the play is the story of the contrast between "The Brat" and her new environment, and their mutual reactions under each other's influence. It is naturally a piece full of wholesome comedy, and in it Miss Sitzer has found what is believed to be her best role. It will be recalled that the play was the opening offering of the Beach-Jones company during their engagement here last winter. Indeed, it was the success which attended that performance, and the numerous requests for its repetition as a result, that caused the management to decide on "The Brat" for the last half of the week.

Milton Goodhand, leading man, has an excellent part of Steve Forester, brother of the novelist, and Guy Beach plays the novelist, McMillon Forester. Charles Rummel is the comedy bishop of the play.

The stock company gives its last performance this evening in "Which One Shall I Marry?" Almost a capacity house greeted the play on its third performance Monday evening, and there is a heavy advance sale for the last night.

THOUSAND NEW FARMS SETTLED EVERY YEAR IN THE BADGER STATE

Formed Mostly in Northern Wisconsin Says Agriculture Commission Report

WISCONSIN LEADS STATES IN NUMBER OF SILOS

Has Fourteen Thousand More than New York State

MADISON, Wis.—Over 1,000 new farms are being settled in Wisconsin every year, according to figures made public by the Wisconsin commissioner of agriculture in his annual report. These farms are being formed almost entirely in upper Wisconsin, as the lower two-thirds of the state shows an actual decrease in the numbers of farms.

Wisconsin maintains its leadership in silos, the report states, there being 82,034 in the state, as compared with 68,000 silos in New York, the second in position.

The largest single item in point of value among the agricultural products of the state was milk, the report says, $73,079,000 pounds being produced in one year, valued at $250,506,300. There are approximately 1,800,000 dairy cows in Wisconsin.

Swine are the most important of the meat animals, the latest report showing that approximately 2,000,000 swine valued at $62,060,000 were slaughtered or sold from Wisconsin farms in one year.

Market cattle are decreasing, being reduced from 660,000 in 1917 to 526,000 in 1919. To compensate for this decline there has been a considerable increase in the number of sheep.

Commissioner Norgord concludes the report as follows:

"In the face of declining prices on all classes of livestock, with the possible exception of milk cows, it is felt that the increase in the numbers of livestock in the near future will be small if indeed an annual decrease does not occur."

VIROQUA BALL CLUB LOSES OPENING TILT TO CASHTON SUNDAY

Cashton Leaguers Garner Thirteen Hits and Win from Viroquans 5 to 1

By E. M. NYE

VIROQUA, Wis.—Playing the opening game of the western Wisconsin baseball season here Sunday afternoon, the Viroqua club was defeated by Cashton at league park by a score of 5 to 1.

The weather was ideal for base ball, and a large and enthusiastic crowd was in attendance, many from the surrounding country, and a large delegation of rooters and fans from Cashton were on the grounds to support their team. Schultz occupied the mound for Viroqua, and Bell tossed for Cashton.

Both teams scored in the first inning. With one man gone, Berens, of Cashton, drew a base on balls, and stole second. W. Wais struck out, but Hanson lined a two base hit, and Berens crossed the rubber. P. Wais ended the inning by striking out.

Score Twice in Third

Cashton scored two runs in the third by the bunting game which temporarily demoralized the Viroqua outfit. Three bunts were allowed to find safely, and these coupled with two Texas leaguers brought in the two runs before P. Wais and Williams fouled out, and Rogstad was thrown out at first. Schultz to Kuehn. From then on it was a pitcher's battle with Bell having a shade the best of the argument.

In the ninth inning, Cashton scored two more runs. Bell hit safely to right, Becker sacrificed, Berens hit safely to right, Becker sacrificed, Berens hit safely, bringing in Bell. W. Wais was out at first, P. Garin to Kuehn, but Hanson, singled again, bringing in Berens. P. Wais struck out, and ended the agony.

Bell pitched a steady game, and had Viroqua feeding from his hand most of the time, only four hits being garnered from his delivery. Schultz pitched a better game than the score would indicate, fully half of the thirteen hits he allowed would ordinarily have been easy outs.

WHAT THE MIGHTY MAJOR SLUGGERS DID ON SUNDAY

NEW YORK—Babe Ruth hit .500 in his six times at bat against the Athletics on Sunday and missed his ninth home run of the season by a few inches with a foul into the right field stand in the fourth inning. It just was foul. Ruth has eight home runs and Kelly, the Giants' slugger, has seven.

Kelly didn't do so well for a slugger on Sunday. He was three times at bat and got one single. Twice more he slapped the ball but couldn't get it out of the infield.

In the first Ruth was thrown out on a weak tap; in the fourth Rommell walked him; in the sixth he singled with nobody on; he fouled out in the eighth, singled in the ninth, fouled out in the twelfth and singled with nobody on in the fourteenth.

Kelly grounded out in the second, popped in the fourth, singled in the sixth and walked in the eighth.

PUBLIC SCHOOL ATHLETIC LEAGUE ACTIVITIES CLOSE

Event this Year Declared to be Marked Success Over Previous Tournaments

WINDING up the activities of the public school athletic league on Monday the championship games in the various classes of playground and volley ball classics were played. The tournament as a whole was declared a great success and was marked by added interest and enthusiasm over the event of last year.

The Lincoln school won the city championship of class "A" playground ball by defeating the Hamilton school, 8 to 6.

The championship in class "B" playground ball was won by Franklin school, winning from Lincoln, 14 to 12.

Class "A" volley ball championship was won by Logan school, defeating Hamilton 26 to 25.

Class "B" volley ball championship was won by Hamilton, defeating Franklin, 37 to 24.

The Hogan-Webster individual tournament in playground ball has not closed as yet, each team having won two games. The champion ship will be played off Wednesday. The girls won the championship between the two schools, defeating the Hogan volley ballers in three straight games.

The tournaments this season have been participated in by twice as many schools as last year and with over 450 public school children taking part in the games, activities of the athletic league for this season offered greater opportunities for active participation on the part of a larger number of children.

GENOA LOSES TO LANSING

GENOA, Wis.—With two regular outfielders out of the line up, Genoa lost to Lansing Sunday by a score of 3 to 2. Prendergast pitched shutout ball but ragged support gave Lansing a run in both the fifth and sixth inning Genoa came back and tied the score in the first half of the ninth, only to lose in this same inning when B. Spinner connected for a long drive, followed by a bad throw and a passed ball which resulted in the winning run.

Genoa found it difficult to connect with "Skinny" Dye's peculiar underhand delivery, and Prendergast's fadeaway proved puzzling to the Lansing sluggers. Bromley's fielding featured, Lansing plays a return game here June 5th, when "Skinny Dye and Sullivan will oppose each other, in what will undoubtedly prove a pitchers battle worth coming many miles to see.

LA CROSSE MEN WIN "W'S" IN DUAL TRACK MEET WITH CHICAGO LAST SATURDAY

BY BILL WALKER.

JOE LISCOVEC and Walter Reget of La Crosse both won their track "W's" at Wisconsin in the dual track and field meet with Chicago last Saturday. The meet was won by Wisconsin with the overwhelming score of 105 to 30. The Badgers romped off with 13 of the 15 first places and made clean sweeps in the pole vault, the high jump, the javelin and the half mile.

Liscovec won first place in his major event, the discus, by hurling the weight a distance of 115 feet, 4 inches. Reget again bested Sandt in the broad jump and won first with a leap of 21 feet 9½ inches. Winning a first place in a dual conference meet will entitle the La Crosse men to their letters. This is the first year in many that two La Crosse men have been members of the varsity track squad and have been rewarded with "W's" during the same season.

In the meet with Chicago Knollin was high point winner of the Badger cinder track squad with a total of 15 points. He won first place in the 100 yard dash, the 120 yard high hurdles, and the 220 yard low hurdles. Sandt was second high man with a total of 13 points. He won firsts in the javelin, the shot and second in the broad jump. Had he defeated Reget in the latter event, he would have tied with Knollin for individual high honors.

In the baseball game on Saturday against Purdue which was won by Wisconsin, 12 to 1, George Ruediger of Fountain City had a good day at the bat. He pounded out a long home run drive in the third inning which brought in three runs. He also made another hit later in the game and featured the fielding performances of the Badgers with a pretty stop of a hot grounder out of his territory early in the game. Captain Rowdy Elliott also garnered two hits off the delivery of Wagner. Both of Elliott's hits went for extra sacks.

THE BOW IN YOUR HAT

In ancient days hats for huntsmen were made with a buffer, laced with a narrow ribbon and tied in a bow-knot. This helped keep the hat on the hunter's head.

Today the bow is still there, but it is style backed by quality that keeps Gordon Hats on the heads of most men.

The richness of the mellow colors shown in this season's Gordons is due to the quality of the hat.

Gordon Hats

"Morning, George! Let me try the Adlon."

"You're showing good smoke-judgment. You won't find a smoother, finer-flavored or more satisfying cigar than Adlon at any price."

"Why do you think so, George?"

"Well, for one thing, while Adlon is mild, yet it has a true, rich tobacco taste that stays from the moment you light it until you get clear down to the last puff.

"I've been in the cigar business nearly all my life—began at the cigar-maker's bench. You can take my word for it, Adlon is all cigar.

"Do you realize, for instance, it took 500 individual tests to create the Adlon blend? It's a fact! These tests covered a long study of all cultivations of tobacco.

"Why, the makers of Adlon went so far as to analyze the personal tastes and prejudices of thousands of cigar smokers, so they'd get a cigar that would please the most finicky smoker."

"What is the tobacco, George, in Adlon?"

"Adlon is a real Havana filler and fine Sumatra wrapper cigar—mild yet full-flavored, richly fragrant and blended right.

"Here is still another interesting point about the Adlon cigar.

"You won't find in Adlon any of the 'gums' that are common to most cigars and cause a disagreeable taste. No, sir! They're removed by an exclusive process and you can enjoy your Adlon as far down as you can retain a fingertip hold on it."

You can get Adlon—the best cigar you can buy—from any good dealer.

Rivoli—Mae Marsh in "Nobody's Kid"; Bray cartoon comedy, "A Drink on the Fly"; "Something to Worry About."

La Crosse—Enaeb-Jones stock in "Which One Shall I Marry?"

Majestic—Sessue Hayakawa in "The Man Beneath"; Kinograms; vaudeville.

Riviera—Native Hawaiians in person in "My Hawaiian Aloha"; David Butler in "Smiling All the Way"; Fox News; Riviera orchestra.

Casino—May Allison in the Metro classic, "Are All Men Alike?"; wild animal serial, "The Lost City"; comedy, "Vamps and Scamps."

Strand—Justine Johnstone in "Blackbirds"; Ford Weekly.

MAE MARSH—RIVOLI

Mae Marsh in "Nobody's Kid," the splendid screen adaptation of the notable story "Mary Cary," closes its two-day engagement at the Rivoli this evening, and tomorrow comes "Midsummer Madness."

Take a pretty, romantic young woman whose husband is too busy to love her and an attractive man who is wearied of his wife. Place them together under the spell of the full moon at midnight. And what happens?

"Midsummer Madness" will tell you in a manner that will please and startle. This is a new William De Mille production which has taken its place beside the really fine pictures of the current season. The story, adapted from Cosmo Hamilton's society novel, "His Friend and His Wife," centers around two young married couples who are close friends. One of the husbands imagines himself in love with his friend's wife, and she, neglected by her husband and starving for romance, yields to a temporary infatuation. The results are highly interesting and lead to a climax that for sheer dramatic intensity has seldom been equalled on the screen.

HAYAKAWA—MAJESTIC

Sessue Hayakawa, the eminent Japanese actor, plays the part of a Hindu in his most recent picture, "The Man Beneath," now at the Majestic.

Hayakawa, who toured India with his Japanese dramatic company before he entered the silent drama, is a deep student of Oriental mysticism, and tells many interesting stories of his experiences with the "fakirs" of India.

"All along the Ganges, the sacred river of India, the Indian ascetics can be seen squatting on their haunches, lost in abstraction and oblivious of their surroundings. One old fellow that I saw was so emaciated and Sphinx-like sitting there with his head against a wall and a glassy look in his eyes, that I thought he had passed away, and so reported to the authorities.

"I learned to my astonishment that he would sit thus for days at a time, partaking of no sustenance whatever. While in this condition, I was told, his soul was in communion with Buddha."

MAY ALLISON DRIVES FAMOUS RACING CAR

Earl Cooper's speedy Stutz racing car—the car with which he broke several world's records in days past—is used by May Allison in her latest picture, "Are All Men Alike?" at the Casino today.

The Cooper racing car comes into use in the new Allison picture when, as Teddy Hayden, the star establishes her reputation for dare-devil acts, from driving at break-neck speed about the country in the racing automobile to taking flights in an aeroplane over the Metro studios in Hollywood.

But it is in the reckless driving of the famous Stutz that Miss Allison registers the most thrills.

"Are All Men Alike?" was adapted by A. P. Younger from Arthur Stringer's novel, "The Waffle Iron."

GORGEOUS SETS SEEN IN "BLIND WIVES"

William Fox has surpassed himself on his scenic effects in "Blind Wives," filmed as a special production from "My Lady's Dress," the celebrated stage success by Edward Knoblock, at the Riviera Wednesday and Thursday and the Casino Friday and Saturday. Beauty is the keynote throughout, and nothing so elaborate in their way as the scenes depicting luxury has been seen here. The Russian, the French and the slum scenes are exceedingly good; but best of all are the scenes in milady's home and in the fashionable dressmaking shop. One of these is a night scene showing buildings in the distance—the windows being lighted. The effect is both startling and pleasing. Another brilliant scene, and one that must appeal strongly to all women, is the manikin display of beautiful gowns. Nothing quite so rich and elaborate ever has been seen here in a single picture.

"BLACKBIRDS"—STRAND

Each was a thief, he the most skillful picture thief in Europe, she the most adept smuggler of stolen goods in the world. They met and loved at sight, each believing the other honest. How horrible their profession seemed to each one of them, when love pointed the way to a cleaner life! Each curse the other of thieving forever. Don't miss this thrilling play, "Blackbirds," a Realart picture with beautiful Justine Johnstone making her debut as a star. At the Strand today.

HAWAIIANS AT RIVIERA LAST TIMES THIS EVENING

"My Hawaiian Aloha," so-called companion piece of the "Bird of Paradise," played by a troupe of native Hawaiians, closes its run at the Riviera this evening. The Hawaiians move to the Strand for Wednesday and Thursday. Besides a program of songs, hula hula dances and native musical numbers, a motion picture, depicting the life of the natives and scenes in Hawaii is shown. The feature picture is David Butler in "Smiling All the Way," a romance of a society girl and a lumberjack from the Maine woods; Fox News, depicting the latest in news pictures also is shown.

White dromedaries are especially prized in the Orient.

SURE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calonite powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin—pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores, and do not get them out after they become hard. The calonite powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Anybody troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

STRONG CAST IS FEATURE OF FILM

"Forbidden Fruit" Brings Chief Trio for First Time in De Mille Play

A cast of remarkable strength has been assembled by Cecil B. De Mille to portray the exacting roles of "Forbidden Fruit," his latest Paramount picture which will be shown at the Rivoli theater next week.

The cast is headed by a trio of players who appear for the first time under the De Mille banner. They are Agnes Ayres, Forrest Stanley and Clarence Burton. Miss Ayres, known as one of the most lovely women on the screen is credited with acting of high merit in this production.

Forrest Stanley is one of the most versatile of leading men. Clarence Burton is a veteran of numerous Paramount productions and is recognized as a character man of rare ability.

In the supporting company are such players as Kathlyn Williams, Theodore Kosloff, Theodore Roberts, Shannon Day, Bertram Johns and Julia Faye.

MOTOR STOCKS SHOW LOSS

General List Heavy in Sympathy With Weakness of Motors and Accessories

NEW YORK—Selling of the motors and their accessories which met with little opposition, soon cancelled gains in rails and oils and undermined the general list on the stock exchange before noon Tuesday. Pierce Arrow common and preferred, Chandler and Bosch Magneto added two to four points to recent losses and rubber tire issues forfeited one to almost two points. Adverse dividend rumors caused heaviness in Republic Iron and Vanadium, Continental Can and allied chemical featured the other heavy industrials and specialties. Buying of rails suddenly halted, a few of the secondary issues becoming heavy. Although money was in free supply, call loans held firm at 6½ per cent.

Rails and industrials continued to move in opposite directions at the opening of the stock market. Reading was strongest of the transportations, soon rising one point. Lehigh Valley, New Haven, Northern Pacific, Texas and Pacific, Minneapolis and St. Louis and Southern Railway gained liberal fractions. Mexican Petroleum and General Asphalt recovered part of Monday's reversal and coppers were firm. Studebaker, Pierce Arrow and Bosch Magneto forfeited large fractions to two points. Exchange on London was at highest quotations in more than a year.

Mexican Petroleum was extremely strong in the final hour but rails and popular industrials were more adversely affected by the rise of call money to seven per cent. The close was heavy.

WHEAT ON UPTURN

Fresh Reports of Crop Damage in Southwest Has Bullish Influence

CHICAGO, Ill.—Fresh crop damage reports from the southwest led to upturns Tuesday in wheat prices. The fact that radical bearish forecasts of the government crop report had not been fulfilled was also a stimulating influence. It was noticed, too, that houses with seaboard connections were buyers of the May delivery. Opening quotations which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to 1½ cents higher, with May $1.39¼ to ¾ and July $1.13½ to $1.14½ were followed by moderate gains all around and then something of a setback.

Subsequently, notable absence of speculative buying orders caused prices to slip downward. The close was unsettled at ¾c net decline to ½c advance with May $1.38½ to ¾ and July $1.12¾ to $1.13.

Corn sympathized with wheat strength. After opening ¼c to 1c higher including July 62¾ to ⅞c the market hardened a little more and then reacted somewhat.

In the later trading a sustaining factor was talk of planting being slow as a result of heavy rains. The market finished steady, ¼ to ⅜c to ⅝c net higher, with July 62¾ to ⅞c.

Oats were firmer, reflecting the course of other cereals. Starting ⅛ to ½c higher July 38⅝c, prices scored a further advance before beginning to sag.

Weakness in the hog market had a bearish effect on provisions.

Typewriter Makes Use of Type

The latest idea in the construction of typewriters is one which is built on the principle of the "linotype" composing machine which sets up a whole line at a time. When the line is completed in this new machine, it is inked and an impression made from it after which the pieces and parts return to neutral ready for the next time. One of the advantages is that the machine is practically noiseless.

GREENWICH VILLAGE IS RUNNING AWAY!

"We're off to Paris!" cries Doris. But "Figs" causes Edna Millay, the poetess, to tarry awhile.

By MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK—"Where is Greenwich Village?"

Echo answers "Where?"

For the passing of Greenwich Village is almost accomplished. The sound of dancing feet is stilled and the buoyant artists sing no more. The tea rooms are empty, save for a few sad uptowners, who came to catch the bird only to find it flown.

And where have they flown to, these delightful bohemians?

Where but to Paris!

New York was made to work in, not to dream in; and so they have gone, dragging their paint brushes behind them.

First went Harrison Dowd, poet, author of the ballad:

"If you had beauty, and I had none—"

And the other now famous:

"If every leaf fell twice!"

And after him went Adele Kennedy, she who used to be the village guide, and took up sculpture.

And in the long list one finally comes to Barney Gallant, the Mexican, who ran "Polly's."

And Arthur Moss, editor of the "Quill"—he has gone and intends to stay. What for? Why to establish a club similar to the "Villager's" which he set up here.

And there is tall Bill Randolph, who laughingly says he is going to break Monte Carlo.

But altogether the most daring expedition is that of "Doris." Leaving, she said, "I'm going to teach the French how to dance upon the top of the tables. They are slowing down, I hear, so this is where I give Paris back to France."

But, brave though lonely, Edna Millay stays on and composes away at the fiftieth sonnet in her sequence, entitled "Figs."

SAVING IS BELIEVING

"Truth"
To Attract
For a Day
To Its Doors
That Is the Law

AN EDITORIAL ON BUYING

Did you read in your newspaper the other evening the interesting advertisement of unusual sale values offered by a reputable firm, which contained this sentence:

"The truth is, these have been reduced to attract you here in the hope that you will see some other things that might interest you."

Now the fact is that in addition to the special values in wearing apparel advertised on that evening, there were in that shop many other interesting values which would have helped to stretch the buying power of your purse.

And have given you cause to thank that firm for attracting you to its doors.

Merchants and manufacturers are many times able to take smaller profits on merchandise by creating, through advertising, a greater demand and an increased volume of sales. That is the law by which advertising works to reduce prices always, both on special sales articles and on regular stocks.

There are many reasons why lower prices are features from time to time. In explaining to the buying public why they exist for a day or a week, a merchant makes his business methods an open secret between himself and his customer. A bond of mutual confidence is thus established, and the buyer discovers that it is worth his while to take advantage of such price values whenever they are advertised. He knows also that other splendid values are there—quality values and style values which are of equal importance with price values.

No merchant buys advertising space to attract customers to his store for one time.

Money spent for advertising pays only when the merchant or manufacturer makes a friend of the buyer—a repeat customer. When, therefore, a special value is thus frankly advertised, it is because there is the right kind of merchandise in other lines to offer customers once they come to purchase.

That is why it is always wise to go where special prices are frankly emphasized.

Again the value of the frank statement quoted lies not alone in the lower prices it made possible and the other interesting stocks to which it attracted buyers, but in its recognition of the fact that truth is the strongest ally which advertising has.

"Truth" is the slogan and the standard of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. To this club belongs practically every important advertising man in America. Each is committed to the principle of safeguarding buyers by upholding absolute truth in the printed advertisement.

Supporting the members of the Associated Advertising clubs are their employers, the reputable merchants and manufacturers of this country. Co-operating with them also are the newspapers and their publishers, the greater majority of which close their columns to all advertising which does not conform to the highest standard of "Truth in Advertising."

The efforts of these great business organizations to make advertising worthy of the confidence of the man and woman who buys have made it also the greatest economic force in the world today. Its benefits to buyers are obvious. It enables them to spend money more economically, and to live better for less money.

Reading advertising, therefore, is a matter of as much importance to the reader of newspapers as reading the news. It should be read daily, and no opportunity which it offers for buying advantageously should be neglected, because back of every special offer will be found regular values which will make it worth the buyer's while to visit the shops and stores which advertise.

THREE LA CROSSE STUDENTS NAMED TO PHI BETA KAPPA AT WISCONSIN UNIVERSITY

MADISON.—La Crosse students at the university scored high in the annual elections to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity. With the exception of Madison, La Crosse was the only city in the state to have more than one of its student representatives honored. Three La Crosse men were numbered among 56 students selected from the thousands in attendance at the university for the honors, the highest which can come to a student in his undergraduate career at an American university.

The La Crosse men elected to Phi Beta Kappa were Albert Erwin Meinert, William Edward Walker, seniors, and Ralph Beckett Spence, junior.

This is not only the first year that La Crosse men were elected to the honorary literary society but it is the first year in many that more than one student was elected from this city. No La Crosse people were named at Wisconsin last year. The last La Crosse election at the state university was the election of Marion Dawson in 1918.

The remarkable fact about the scholastic standing of the La Crosse representatives is that both Meinert and Walker worked their way through the university in addition to gaining scholastic honors. Recently Meinert was also elected to Sigma Sigma, national honorary medical fraternity, and Walker was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma national honorary commerce fraternity, having been elected to Phi Alpha Delta, law fraternity in 1917.

Ralph Spence was one of 21 juniors elected to the organization. He is a junior in the course in chemistry on the hill.

The scholastic careers of Meinert and Walker have been closely interwoven. Both graduated from the same class under Colonel Frank H. Fowler at the old Sixth Ward in February, 1911. In high school Meinert starred in basketball for four years while Walker was valedictorian, editor of the Booster and took a prominent part in forensics. At La Crosse normal both Meinert and Walker were members of the same state championship track team where Meinert took part in the hurdles and high jump and Walker in the distance runs. The latter was also president of the senior class.

After graduating from normal Meinert coached at Oshkosh normal and for that reason has not been able to take part in inter-collegiate athletics at Wisconsin. At present he is coaching the freshman baseball team under Coach Guy S. Lowman. Meinert is studying medicine. He will get his A. B. degree this year and then go on to finish his professional studies.

After finishing normal, Walker put in one year at the Wisconsin law school with a scholastic average of 92 and on returning from the service, enrolled in the school of commerce from which he graduated in February. At present he is employed by the First National Bank, Merchants and Savings Bank and Central Wisconsin Trust Company of Madison, merging institutions, as manager of their New Business and Service Department, a new department the organization of which he took charge of the first of the year.

In the Wisconsin elections to Phi Beta Kappa, men and women were divided almost equally as regards the number elected. Six women and five men won junior honors, and the senior division included 25 women and 20 men.

Students are voted into the fraternity by faculty electors on the basis of scholarship, merit and personality. The electors, composed of all members of Phi Beta Kappa, above the rank of assistant professor, meet and select a proportion of the students from the two upper classes who can meet the qualifications.

That election to Phi Beta Kappa is the highest honor which can come to a student in his undergraduate career is almost universally admitted. A referendum in the form of a questionaire to all seniors at Harvard, Yale and Princeton as to the highest honor that could be conferred on a college man, resulted in the fact that 95 per cent considered the wearing of the Phi Beta Kappa key the highest privilege that could be attained.

Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest Greek letter fraternity in America, was founded on December 5, 1776, at William and Mary college and now has approximately 90 chapters. The initiation this year will be the twenty-second for the Wisconsin chapter which was established in 1899 as the forty-fifth local.

President Edward A. Birge of the University of Wisconsin is Grand President of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa of America.

SIR JAMES HORLICK, FORMER RACINE MAN, DIES IN ENGLAND

He came to Racine fifty years ago and with his brother started the malted milk factory. About fourteen years ago he was knighted by King Edward. He was 77 years old.

GIRLS! BLEACH UGLY FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion whitener.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes bleach out and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes.

EVERYONE SHOULD SECURE A BUSINESS TRAINING NO MATTER WHAT THEIR FUTURE PLANS.

Dear Friends:

Glad to hear from you and was pleased to receive the several copies of Proofs containing many familiar faces of friends made while at the "WBU", who are now doing nicely.

I certainly appreciate the many personal favors received from you folks and if it is of any value to you, you might say that I firmly believe that every young man and woman should spend at least eight months in some good business school upon finishing school, no matter what future they plan on. Having spent seven months at the "WBU", I know from experience that it is as well equipped to give this training as any school of its kind in the Northwest.

Will be glad to hear from you from time to time, and if there is anything I can do, kindly call upon me. Kind regards to any of my friends.

Very truly yours,
LLOYD OLSON,
